The palm held counting device

Do you need to keep track of the number of people entering a venue, passing a check point, entering a campsite, completing a cross-country run, counting people in, counting people out, etc etc etc ...

How many times have you lost track of the number of x you were counting and had to start all over again? This small device - it fits in the palm of your hand and is operated by your thumb - could be the answer to your problems.

There is a 'click' noise every time you click the button so that you know the count has been registered. Counter starts at 0000 and goes up to 9999; simply twist the dial to reset to 0000 when necessary. No batteries. It is as simple as that!

The simple gadget that you've probably never thought about buying, but will wonder how you ever managed without it!
